2009 FLEURIE, Domaine des Quatre Vents

"Fragrant rose petal and dark fruits mark the aromatics of this charming Cru Beaujolais. The deep ruby color, subtle grapy Gamay aromas, coupled with a trace of spice marry nicely with the richly textured dark fruit flavors. This is pure Gamay with good length and fruit." - Gerald D. Boyd, Wine Review Online (5/18/10)

2009 JULIENAS, Château des Capitans

"Duboeuf barrel-aged 15% of the wine from this famous vineyard estate in Beaujolais. All of the lovely floral-berry character of Gamay is here and then some, with depth in the nose and palate. The wine has good length, a hint of toasted oak, strawberry preserves and a trace of road tar. This impressive Julienas finishes with good structure and acidity." - Gerald D. Boyd, Wine Review Online (5/18/10)

2009 MOULIN-A-VENT, Domaine des Rosiers

"Duboeuf barrel-aged about 15% of this single-vineyard wine, adding a textural note and an additional measure of seasoning. The color is a medium-deep ruby and the aromatics are full Gamay with ripe strawberry notes. This richly textured wine has power, body and good length. Hold for at least five more years when it should be optimum for drinking pleasure." - Gerald D. Boyd, Wine Review Online (5/18/10)

2009 BEAUJOLAIS-VILLAGES, Flower Label

"This delightful wine offers loads of forward ripe berry aromatics and flavors, supported by soft but firm tannins and good acidity. Beaujolais-Villages can be a little thin and vapid sometimes, but not this one. It's juicy and grapy and the price is right." - Gerald D. Boyd, Wine Review Online (5/18/10)

2009 MORGON, Flower Label

"Characteristic Morgon beefy texture and weight, with lovely floral and forward berry aromas and delicious flavors, layered with a hint of cassis. This is a hearty, full bodied Beaujolais that is, in some ways, more typical Morgon than the Domaine Jean Descombes. It will improve with a few more years in bottle" - *Gerald D. 2009 MOULIN-A-VENT, Domaine de la Tour du Bief

"Moulin-a-Vent was the first Cru Beaujolais that convinced me that Beaujolais need not be a simple quaffing wine. The lovely floral-grapy aroma, dense textured flavors, full fruit and balancing acidity of this wine are all supported by fine tannins. About 20% of this wine was barrel aged, giving it an additional dimension." - Stephen Brook, Wine Review Online (5/18/10)

2009 BROUILLY, Flower Label

"Brouilly is known for light aromatic wines with good texture. This 2009 is a little closed in the nose, but shows good fruit, ripe berry notes and ample length through the juicy finish. Brouilly is one of the most popular crus and this one extends that popularity" - Gerald D. Boyd, Wine Review Online (5/18/10)
